DuraPlate® Door Panels & Premium Hardware

Our new truck swing doors have raised the bar for quality, and they're now our Standard Equipment.

We start with 13mm thick DuraPlate® panels - efficient, lightweight, and incredibly strong - to provide exceptional resistance to damage, leaks, and corrosion. With skins composed of 80,000 psi yield steel, DuraPlate panels resist scrapes, punctures, buckling, and permanent deformation. The polyethylene core and the bond between the skins and core form an added barrier that won't deteriorate and is impervious to water. With no plywood construction, there's nothing to rot.

Then we add stainless steel hardware – bar locks & latches – with premium heavy-duty extruded aluminum hinges, so now there's nothing to paint, nothing to rust, nothing to maintain.

At U.S. Truck Body, we build doors to last, and we put this same attention to detail into every other part of our bodies. When you purchase a body from us, you'll get one designed to outlast your chassis, so today's appearance will equal 10 years' appearance.
